JUNIOR COLLEGE PLAYS MUSKEGON CAGERS THURSDAY

State Junior College Championship to Be at Stake; Teams Well Matched

When the strong Muskegon Junior college basketball team meets Coach Boy's Grand Rapids Junior college quint in the Lyon at gym next Thursday evening, nothing less than the Michigan Junior college championship will be at stake. If the Boysmen succeed in handing the Sawdust City basketballers another defeat they will have undisputed claim of the state title, but if Muskegon comes out the victors the claim to the championship must be equally divided.

That the Muskegon five is a worthy match for the locals is shown by the close score which marked the first contest between these two teams. It was a last minute rally that the Boysmen were able to eke out a 24 to 22 victory. In one respect the Muskegans have the edge of their opponents. During the past few weeks the two teams have been meeting the same opponents and Muskegon has constantly handed them a more decisive defeat than the Boysmen have been able to do.

McDonald Muskie Star

McDonald, brilliant center, is the outstanding man in the Sawdust City line-up. With his uncanny ability for sinking long range shots, he will be a constant menace for the local five. Hathaway and Hohenstein, forwards, are also expected to perform well on offense as they never yield the visitors, while, Lamberts and Rohwedder are two exceptional scorers.

Green, local center, will probably not start in Thursday's game due to a minor injury. The following lineup has been announced by Coach Boy: Gochstas, forwards; Amsden, forwards; Stuart; center; Hon- dorf and Boyton, guards.

Ralph Conger will referee the main contest, which will start at 8:15, and which will be preceded by a preliminary between the junior college freshmen and a quint composed of former Muskegon high school stars.
