

Guidance for Math Course Placement Without Taking a Placement Test at MCC

- Most students will have a math subscore on the SAT, PSAT and a few returning students may have an ACT math score. The following chart expands MCC's accepted scores to all math courses and should be followed closely, choosing a course as required by your program.

Recommended Math Placement
Course	Math 036A	Math 038 TMAT 101A	Math 040 TMAT 102A	Math 100A 107A TMAT 201A	Math 105 109 111 115A	Math 112 151	Math 161
SAT	13-19.5	20-22.5	23-25.5	26-28	28.5-30.5	31-33	33.5+
PSAT	13-19.5	20-22.5	23-25.5	26-28	28.5-30.5	31-33	33.5+
ACT	10-14	15-16	17-18	19-21	22-24	25-27	28+

- If you do not have a standardized test score, please look back to the most recent math class (in high school) where you earned an A or a B and follow the guidelines below.

If this class focused on Algebra II and you earned B's, then you should take Math 100A or Math 107A, as required by your program of study.

If this class focused on Algebra II and you earned A's, then you should take Math 109, Math 111, or Math 115A, as required by your program of study.

If this class focused on Precalculus or FST and you earned B's, then you should take Math 109, Math 111, Math 115A, as required by your program of study.

If this class focused on Precalculus or FST and you earned A's, then you should take Math 112 or Math 115A, as required by your program of study.

If this class focused on Calculus and you earned A's or B's, then you should take Math 161 or Math 115A, as required by your program of study, unless you earned AP credit, in which case AP credit will apply.

If this class focused on Technical Math, Applications, or Personal Finance and you earned A's or B's, then you should take Math 107A or TMAT 101A, as required by your program of study.

- If you are interested in taking Math100A and you took the prerequisite Math040 5 or more years ago, you should retake Math 040 before enrolling in Math 100A.
- During the first week of classes, you will be required to take a pre-test, either in-class or online. If your instructor recommends that you change classes based on the pre-test, then you will be required to change classes.
